Fight in the City.

Although there was apparently little interest on the part of the voters of Richmond in the results of the contest several weeks ago there has been a great awakening among them within the past few days, and this is expected to have the effect of bringing out a comparatively large vote to-day. There are several reasons for this renewed interest on the part of the local voters. One is that within the last few days all the candidates for State offices have paid especial attention to organizing Richmond, while the nine aspirants for the House have likewise shown great activity. Again, there are fights for the City Democratic Committee in three of the wards, those wishing to be elected to the local executive body of their party being on the alert for votes. It is in Marshall, Clay and Madison Wards that battles are being waged with more or less flereness for seats in the committee. In Marshall, so far as can be understood, there is no fight upon any particular incumbent. It is simply a matter of six men running when only five are

Rumers of State.

There were persistent rumors on the streets last night to the effect that a slate containing the names of five candidates for the House of Delegates had been made and was being persisting when quite a young man he moved his residence to the great Southweet, and grew up with that thriving young section of the State. He is a lawyer of recognized ability, as well as a strong public speaker. Colonel James Mann gave out the following statement on behalf of Judge Mann;

"I have not had an opportunity to analyze carefully the estimates published by the News Leader, said to have been made by the clerks of courts throughout the State.

"The estimates were so clearly inaccurate, however, that I took occasion to call two clerks over the 'phone, with rather surprising results. The clerk of Henrico, where the News Leader gives the clerk's estimate as 300 majority for Tucker, said that he had not made any estimate, and that conditions in the county were such that he could not make an estimate that would be of any value. The clerk of Isle of Wight, where the 'clerk's report gives Tucker a majority of 120, said that he had not made a report, and that he thought the county would give Judge Mann a majority of from 100 to 150. I did not talk with any other clerks.

Herows Expects to Win.

The following was given out from the headquarters of J. Thompson Brown, one of the candidates for Commissioner of Agriculture, last night: "Advices from all over the State indicate that Mr. Brown has developed tremendous strength. The energy with which he has conducted his campaign confirms his character as an organizer and administrator, qualities which would be of great value to the State in the office of Commissioner of Agriculture. Mr. Brown's exposure of Mr. Koiner's record has been an appeal to public documents and correspondence, and Mr. Koiner has allowed the campaign to close without in any way attempting to deny the most serious of the charges which have been made against him. While we are not making any boastful estimates, we feel confident that the people of Virginia are discriminating enough to insure the nomination of Mr. Brown to this important office."
